

BUTTERFLY COAT RACK

POLISHED BRASS / RIO ROSEWOOD, 1960

The Butterfly Coat Rack is made of a pair of mobile brass hooks and a plain exotic wood block – either in Movingui and nickel-plated brass or Rio rosewood and polished brass.

This coat rack was first conceived to support four clothes and two hats. Today the upper part can be used to hang different types of garments without deforming them.

Both models have been handmade with the same level of craftsmanship and material quality as those recently found in Wabbes' family attic.

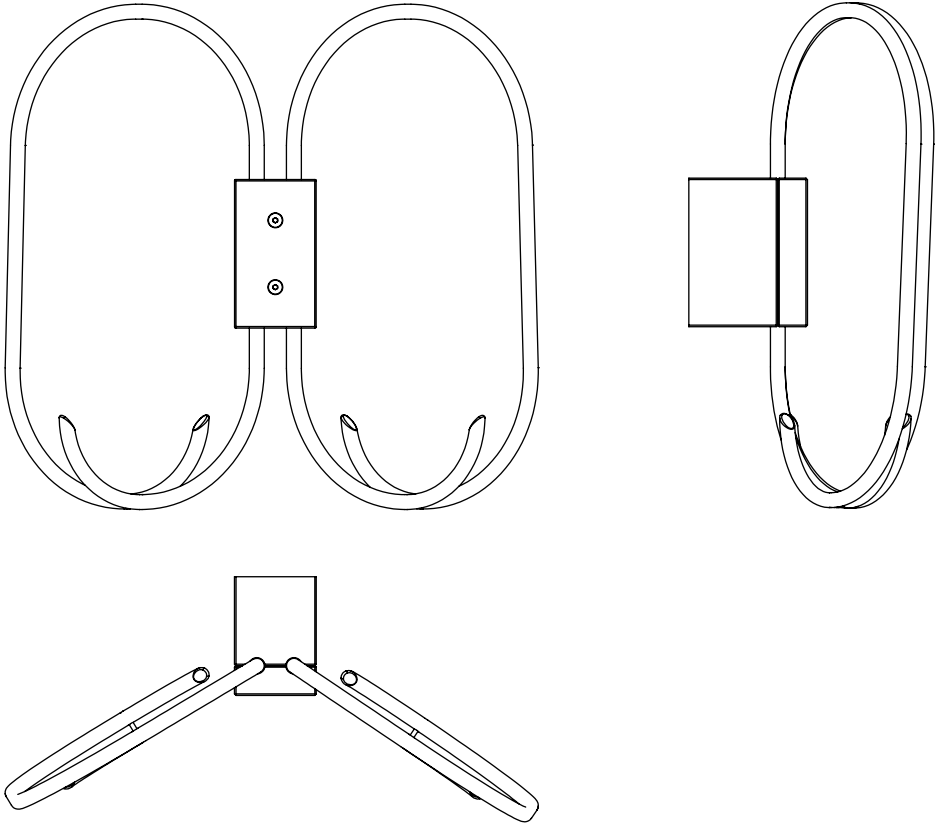

It is the first time this piece is being manufactured since its conception, making it a rarity and an exclusivity of GEDE.
